Governor Greitens Announces New Policy to Defend Religious Freedom

Today, Governor Greitens announced that his administration is reversing policies that previously discriminated against religious organizations.

"Before we came into office, government bureaucrats were under orders to deny grants to people of faith who wanted to do things like make community playgrounds for kids... That's just wrong... We have hundreds of outstanding religious organizations all over the state of Missouri who are doing great work on behalf of kids and families every single day. We should be encouraging that work. So, today we are changing that prejudiced policy," said Greitens.

Before the Greitens administration took office, the Missouri Department of Natural Resources (DNR) denied religious organizations access to multiple state grant programs, just because the organizations were religious.

Governor Greitens has instructed the Department of Natural Resources to allow religious organizations to apply for and be eligible to receive DNR grants. Now, religious organizations will have their applications judged on the merits like any other applicant. DNR will also update its application materials, so that religious organizations are no longer prohibited from applying.

The move is being praised by leaders in the faith community.

"We applaud the Governor's move to make sure these non-sectarian DNR grants and programs are available to all children without religious discrimination," said Mike Hoey, Executive Director of the Missouri Catholic Conference, the public policy agency for the Catholic Church in Missouri. "The education and safety of our children should be considered foremost in these grant programs, not the type of school the children attend."

"Governor Greitens 'gets' what our Founding Fathers understood: that faith is an integral part of our national identity. There are common places where people of faith and state can work together to accomplish the common good such as safety, education, rehab, foster/orphan care, and other contexts where qualified religious organizations meet and, in most cases, exceed the state requirements," said Dr. John Yeats, Executive Director of the Missouri Baptist Convention.

"We applaud Governor Greitens for his actions today, which we believe will benefit all Missouri children, regardless of where they attend school. Like all Missourians, we want better and safer schools for our children. Through the implementation of this policy, the Governor is making that happen," said Daniel Lefton, President, Board of Trustees, Epstein Hebrew Academy.

Under the old policy, DNR denied a request from a preschool, owned by a Columbia church, for a Scrap Tire Surface Material Grant to replace its playground surface. The case, brought by Trinity Lutheran, is pending before the United States Supreme Court.

According to The Washington Times. "A playground spat over surfacing made out of scrap tires is looming as a pivotal church-state separation case, one that religious freedom advocates say could provide relief from what they see as government hostility toward faith."

Today's action by Governor Greitens is not expected to affect the Trinity Lutheran case before the Supreme Court because that case involves a 2012 DNR decision that became final years before the Greitens administration took office. It does ensure that future groups will not be discriminated against based on religion again.

Under the previous administration, DNR required many grant applicants to certify that they were not religious organizations. For example, the previous Playground Scrap Tire Surface Material Grant Application Form required applicants to certify that:

"The applicant is not owned or controlled by a church, sect, or denomination of religions and the grant would not directly aid any church, sect or denomination of religion."

Some religious organizations applied anyway. DNR denied grants to religious organization applicants in at least four different grant programs: Scrap Tire Surface Material Grant Program (playground surfaces); Bus Grant Program (school field trip transportation); Cost-Share Program (erosion control); and Solid Waste Management District Grants (recycling efforts).

In 2016, 65 schools applied to DNR to fund field trips to state parks. DNR granted 62 applications. The only three applications not granted came from religious schools: St. Joseph School in Westphalia, Christ Church Christian School in Warrensburg, and St. James Catholic School in Liberty. The last administration left these three applications pending. Governor Greitens has instructed DNR to move forward with these applications like any other.

House OKs legislation to protect alternatives-to-abortion agencies

By Jennifer Brinker | jbrinker@archstl org | twitter: @jenniferbrinker

The Missouri legislature took another step toward protecting alternatives to abortion agencies and pre-empting cities from enacting ordinances that infringe upon the religious liberty rights of individuals and organizations

The Missouri House on March 30 approved HB174, which acknowledges the rights of alternatives-to-abortion agencies, such as pregnancy resource centers and maternity homes, to freely assemble and engage in religious practices or speech without government interference The bill is sponsored by Rep Tila Hubrecht (R-

It also would prohibit local governments from enacting laws that require individuals, organizations or companies to directly or indirectly support abortion or provide health benefits that are contrary to their religious or moral beliefs. If enacted into law, the bill could impact a new St. Louis ordinance, known as BB203, that Archbishop Robert J Carlson said forces "city residents to be unwilling participants in the abortion business by requiring business owners and individuals to tacitly approve any 'reproductive health' decisions made by their employees or tenants The effort has headed to the Senate, where a similar bill has been proposed SB41, sponsored by Sen Wayne Wallingford (R-Cape Girardeau) also includes language

See how they voted for a roll call of how Missiouri House Representatives voted on HB124, void were the a roll call of how Missiouri House Representatives voted on HB124, void some.efforure or which was white associate in support of SB41 and HB124, void some.efforure that would pre-empt elements of the St Louis ordinance, which Wallingford said violates the religious liberty rights of individuals and organizations

"In the Missouri Constitution it says with religious freedom that no human authority can control or interfere with the rights of conscience," Wallingford told the Review in February "That should have caused this to not even be drafted I don't see where that could pass muster It goes against our U S Constitution and the state Constitution This is about a behavior, a decision This opens up all sorts of problems '

While BB203 seeks to safeguard individuals, it doesn't provide protection for individuals who hold religious beliefs, Wallingford said "What's the danger in freedom of speech and freedom to assemble?" he asked

Groups including Missouri Right to Life and the Missouri Catholic Conference hailed the House's passage of HB174 MCC executive director Mike Hoey said in a statement that the national abortion industry is taking on a new strategy of creating "abortion sanctuaries" on a municipal level when their efforts do not receive support at the state and federal levels He cited examples in New York and California where ordinances have been passed to create "abortion sanctuaries "Here in Missouri we are not about to let the abortion industry take the ancient principle of giving sanctuary and twist its meaning into protecting the abortion industry and forcing citizens to aid the abortion industry," Hoey said Instead of creating abortion "sanctuaries," Hoey wants to see the state of Missouri become a sanctuary for life," he said "We are going to take back this idea of sanctuary and restore it to its original and noble purpose"

HB174 also includes an emergency clause, meaning the bill would become law immediately upon the governor's signature Gov Eric Greitens has used Facebook to communicate his opposition to BB203

"This bill attacks clinics that help women 'Alternatives to Abortion' clinics are non-profits that provide women with counsel, support, and resources," he wrote

"What they don't do is advocate for abortion In our budget, we provided $6 million for these clinics, based on the important work they do to help women "We need to send a clear message: the people of Missouri do not support Abortion Sanctuary Cities," he wrote "We will fight for the vulnerable to get the support they need in tough times — we will proudly stand up for life "

Judge blocks longstanding abortion laws

A federal judge has issued a preliminary injunction that prohibits enforcement of abortion related law s in Missouri.

U.S. District Judge Howard Sachs in Kansas City, Mo., on April 4 granted a motion by Planned Parenthood to block longstanding laws requiring abortion doctors to have local hospital privileges and that abortion clinics be licensed as

ry surgical centers.

Sachs wrote in a memo, however, that he would give the state time to develop a plan to "avoid collateral and unintended damage to standard medical regulations."

Last June, the U.S. Supreme Court invalidated those aspects of abortion re gulation in Texas litigation. "Missouri has not complied with that decision," Sachs wrote.

Friends.

A very disappointing ruling (see attached), and it won't surprise me in the least if Planned Parenthood attempts to start performing or inducing abortions very soon in Columbia, Kansas City, Springfield and/or Joplin, Mo.

But I am confident that Attorney General Josh Hawley and his staff will con inue to aggressively defend Missouri's pro-life laws, which help protect the health and safety of women seeking abortions in Missouri.

Judge Blocks Missouri Abortion Restrictions

By Dan Margolies • April 19, 2017

This story was updated at 4:53 p m to include the comment of a spokeswoman for Missouri Attorney General Josh Hawley

A federal judge has blocked Missouri's restrictions requiring abortion doctors to have hospital admitting privileges and abortion clinics to meet the specifications of ambulatory surgical centers

U.S. District Judge Howard Sachs said two weeks ago that he planned to enter a preliminary injunction against the requirements, so the ruling came as no surprise

But in his 17-page decision Wednesday, Sachs made clear that he was bound by the U S Supreme Court's decision last year in Whole Woman's Health v Hellerstedt striking down similar abortion restrictions in Texas "The abortion rights of Missouri women, guaranteed by constitutional rulings, are being denied on a daily basis, in irreparable fashion," Sachs wrote of Missouri's abortion restrictions "The public interest clearly favors prompt relief"

In Hellerstedt, the Supreme Court found that, "in the face of no threat to women's health," Texas had required women to travel to distant surgery

Sachs said that accepting Missouri's contention that he should reappraise the abortion safety issue would be akin to trying to undermine the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision in Brown v Board of Education Sachs noted that the Supreme Court found that the hospital affiliation requirement in Texas cured no significant health-related problem And he cited the high court's finding that tens of thousands of women in Texas would have been forced to travel more than 150 miles to find an open clinic had the affiliation requirement been allowed to stand

"This case is not a close one in any event, as the absence of a clinic in central Missouri requires hundreds of miles of travel, round-trip, with two trips needed unless a woman has the means and time available for a long stay in St Louis or other rather distant clinics," Sachs wrote He added that the hospital affiliation requirement, rather than furthering women's safety, probably creates health hazards for them

The only clinic in Missouri that currently performs surgical abortions is

Print Page 12 of 93

Planned Parenthood's facility in St Louis Missouri's hospital affiliation requirement forced the Planned Parenthood facility in Columbia to stop offering abortions there in 2015

Similarly, Sachs blocked the ambulatory surgical center law requiring abortion clinics in Missouri to have facilities suitable for major surgery. The requirements include wide hallways and other physical specifications

Sachs pointed out that the law would require Planned Parenthood's Kansas City facility, which offers only medicinal abortions, to remodel the facility at a possible cost of millions of dollars

The lack of necessity and "nearly arbitrary" imposition of the requirements, Sachs wrote, "adequately establishes that these plaintiffs are very likely to receive relief" are quirement for the issuance of a preliminary injunction

Sachs said the likelihood that the plaintiffs in the case – Planned Parenthood Great Plains and Planned Parenthood of the St Louis Region and Southwest Missouri – would prevail at trial "is very high"

"The ability to function as abortion clinics and to perform abortions is crippled in Columbia, Springfield and Joplin, and to some extent in Kansas City, by reason of the statutory and regulatory hospital affiliation requirement for doctors," Sachs wrote

"Especially in Springfield and Joplin, but to a lesser extent in Columbia and Kansas City, the ASC (surgery center) requirement imposes burdens that have closed or prevented development of clinics'

He went on to say that a failure to act promptly would "seriously frustrate the opportunity to open clinics in Springfield and Joplin and the restoration of clinical service in Columbia and Kansas City

Loree Anne Paradise, a spokeswoman for Missouri Attorney General Josh Hawley, who defended the Missouri abortion restrictions, said the attorney general's office does not comment on pending litigation

        DR. RANDALL WILLIAMS, in his official ) capacity as Director of the Missouri ) Department of Health and Senior Services, ) e t a l ., DR. MANDALD Wilbinson, IN HIS Offices ( ) Defendants. ) MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

Planned Parenthood organizations in Kansas City and St. Louis that divide the State, together with a doctor seeking to perform abortions, have filed motions for a preliminary injunction. They ask for relief from two varieties of statutory and regulatory restriction, imposing (1) a hospital admitting privileges regulariement on doctors and (2) an ambulatory surgical center (ASC) requirement on clinics. The Challenges here are designed to invoke successful challenges in Texas. Whole Woman's Health v. Heilerstedt, 136 S. Ct 2292 (2016). The Missouri State defendants, Attorney General Hawley and Difference Williams, newly appointed executive of the Department of Health and Senior State Administration. Since the restrictions were imposed in 2007, abortion facilities in Missouri Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Fage 1 of 17 have been intermittently confined geographically. At present, only St Louis has an operating facility. Abortion clinics in overland Park, Kansas, and Fayetteville, Arkansas, are used by some Missourians. Central Missouri lacks ready access to such facilities and the Springfield - Jopin area is notably unserved.

This is not a contest over abortion rights as such. All parties must acknowledge that, until viability of a fetus, pregnant women and girls have had, for more than forty years, constitutionally protected rights to obtain abortions. The challenged restrictions were imposed purportedly as health measures for abortion patients. Both restrictions are said by plaintiffs to be unnecessary, useless, burdensome or impossible to achieve, so much so that they have been called Targeted Regulation of Abortion Provider laws (TRAP legislation). The Texas restrictions, challenged here, were so characterized in Justice Ginsburg's concurring opinion in Hellerstedt, 136 s.ct. at 2321. As noted in my ruling denying dismissal of this case, "targeted regulation" is not an unknown concept in Missouri. An incoming State Senator was recently quoted as advocating regulation as "one avenue" to wholly eliminate abortions in Missouri. (Doc. 68, p. 5).

The Missouri State defendants contend, however, that the surgical center requirement can be justified as a health measure, that closed centers have not been statistically shown to reduce the rate of abortions, and that the hospital affil requirements are both reasonable and achievable, as in St. Louis. The State defendants further contend that the hospital affiliation requirement, invalidated by the Supreme Court, can be defended here because Missouri is more compact than Texas and they have new evidence of reasonableness not presented in the Texas case. With Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 2 of 17 respect to the surgical center requirement, although there is a statute specifying that abortion clinics shall be classified as Ambulatory Surgical Centers (§ 197.200(1) R.S.Mo.), there is a regulation in Missouri (19-CSR 30.30.070(1)), but allegedly not in Texas, allowing relief through deviations granted by the Department. 1 The Department has allowed grandfathering of some surgical facilities that do not comply. The abortion clinic in Kansas City has been exempted by the Department when only medicinal abortions have been proposed. And the columbia facility has negotiated for some modifications in the regulatory requirements, although it required a lawsuit before this was achieved in 2010 and since that time here have been a number of disputes and alleged changes of position by the Department.
    For reasons discussed below, I am granting a preliminary injunction against enforcing the hospital affiliation requirement (§ 197.215(2) R.S. Mo.; 188.080 R.S.Mo.; 188.027.1(1)(e) R.S. Mo.; and regulation 19-30-060 (1)(c)(4)) for doctors performing abortions. The Texas case clearly controls that ruling. I am also granting a prelimi injunction against using the surgical center requirement, as the Supreme Court did, where the statutory and regulatory pattern is similar to that in Missouri. Even if we assume the regulation permits the Director to disregard mandatory language of the statute and to use "physical facility" regulations no more onerous than are used for procedures performed in typical medical and dental offices, the surgical center rules have not been withdrawn by the Department during the months after the Texas ruling, and the new Director's filings here belie the prospect of his granting relief voluntarily. The principal argument of the State defendants is that, contrary to the conclusions of the Supreme Court, abortions are sufficiently dangerous to pregnant women so that surgery center requirements are 1 The Hellerstedt majority noted, however, that "full or partial waivers" are possible in Texas. 136 S.Ct. at 2308.
Case 2:16-07-04313-HPS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 3 of 17 appropriate. Thus it would be fruitless to await regulation relief.

Moreover, taking into account the highly contentious political status of abortions, it would take a very hardy Director, even if not personally opposed to pre-viability abortion rights, to agree voluntarily to establishment of abortion clinics in Springfield or Joplin that would be out of compliance with ASC standards. I am therefore satisfied that plaintiffs should have relief from such standards, as the Supreme Court mandated, and that relief should be prompt, given the needs of women seeking abortions and the need for available clinics to serve their needs. Without the guidance of a favorable ruling here it seems inevitable that the establishment of new clinics would be unduly delayed.
      1. Hellerstedt Controls
Filings of the parties have added voluminous material to the record, largely directed toward the issue of dangerousness of abortions. Surgery center requirements are needed for safety, according to the State Defendants. (Doc. 84). Plaintiffs argue, correctly I believe, that because the Supreme Court has spoken on this subject I am required to follow. The Court noted that childbirth has a mortality rate 14 times that of abortions, and ticolonoscopies, for example, have a mortality rate 10 times higher. 136 S.Ct. at 2315. The Court found that "in the face of no threat to women's health" Texas unreasonably required them to travel to distant surgery centers, "superfacilities." Id. at 2318. There were three dissenters, two of whom filed outspoken opinions, but the dissenters did not take issue with the majority on the question of abortion safety. In that respect, the ruling was 5 to zero.

2 The Texas decision expresses the hope that details of clinic design and requirements will not become judicial issues. Thus, I should go as far, but not farther, than the Supreme Court did in rejecting surgery center requirements as a package. Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 4 of 17

 For me to accept new material, copies of studies and expert opinions, and to find a greater safety problem than was found in Hellerstedt, would be impermissible judicial practice. Lower court judges are bound by Supreme Court precedent even if seriously question what the Court has done. MEM Banagement Corp. v. Stenehjem, 795 F.3d 768 (8 th Cir. 2015). The lower federal courts cannot second-quess the Supreme Court regarding "underlying facts." Id. at 772. Defendants cite no authority for what they ask, although they observe that the Missouri Supreme Court did reappraise the issue of teenage capital punishment in advance of the High Court's ruling in Roper v Simmons, 543 U.S. 551 (2005). Although the Court majority agreed with the Missouri Supreme Court, Justice o'Connor's dissent criticized the Missouri Court's practice, saying it was heourt's "prerogative alone to overrule one of its precedents." She cited State Oil Co. v. Khan, 522 U.S. 3, 20 (1997).

The State Defendants' contention that I should reappraise the abortion safety issue, after the very extensive advocacy on both sides in Hellerstedt, would be like attempting to undermine Brown v. Beard of Education, 347 U.S. 483 (1954), based on a Missouri school district contention that the effect of segregation was better understood in Plessy than in the Brown case, or that racial segregation in Missouri is more benigh than elsewhere. Hellerstedt's factual conclusions were not confined to Texas. The majority relied on Wisconsin and Alabama case-law (136 S.Ct. at 2312) and anicus briefs and materials unrelated to Texas. It is of course true that Hellerstedt, like Roe v. Wade, might someday meet the fate of Plessy v. Ferguson, but only the Supreme Court could reach that result. The filings are of interest, and have been studied to the extent feasible and appropriate, case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 5 of 17
    but cannot support a ruling inconsistent with Hellerstedt. 3
   2. Hospital Affiliation Requirement Various Missouri statutes, including criminal prohibitions, mandate that a doctor cannot perform an abortion in a clinic unless he or she has hospital privileges at a nearby hospital, within 30 miles of the clinic. Regulations tighten the requirement to distances within fifteen minutes of the clinic, which raises questions regarding Kansas City.

In Hellerstedt, however, the Supreme Court found "no significant health-related problem that the new (hospital affiliation) law helped to cure." 136 S.Ct. at 2311. At oral argument in the Supreme Court Texas counsel acknowledged that he could not cite" single instance in which the new requirement would have helped even one woman obtain better treatment." Id. at 2311-12. The Court noted that similar admitting-privileges laws in Wisconsin and Alabama had been ruled useless, from a health standpoint. The Court also found the requirement disabling for almost all abortion practitioners for various reasons unrelated to competency, and places a "substantial obstacle in the path of a woman's choice." Id. at 2312 (citing the plurality opinion in Casey, 505 U.S. at 877). The Court also reviewed the closing of clinics, apparently caused by the absence 3 Taking the liberty indulged in by the MKB judges, I am struck by a considerable increase in danger in the immediate weeks before viability. "Abortion-Related Mortality" article (2004) by Linda A. Bartlett (Doc. 86-2, p. 9). This reaffirms the view of the Hellers Case 2:16-C-V-04313-HRS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 6 of 17 Page 6 of 17 of doctors who could meet the affiliation requirement. Without confining its appraisal to Texas, the Court ruled that "the admitting-privileges requirement does not serve any relevant credentialing function." Id. at 2313.

Hellerstedt also discussed the burden that closing of convenient clinics has on persons seeking abortions. From the record in that case it recited that many tens of thousands of women would be forced to travel more than 150 miles to find an open clinic if seeking an abortion, and a great number would travel over 200 miles. It is true that increased driving distance does not "always" constitute an "undue burden," as noted in Casey, but the Hellerstedt Court said the "the virtual absence of any health benefit" from the hospital affiliation requirement was a factor to be weighed in making an undue burden ruling. Id. at 2313. Balancing is therefore required. Id at 2309. This necessarily means that the burden to be considered undue is greatly reduced as a requirement as the benefit from the regulation becomes miniscule, if any. West Alabama Women's center v. Miller, 2016 WM. 6395904, *4 (M.P.A.Ia.) (and citations).

In Casey a waiting period was ruled to be an appropriate benefit to society, like a waiting period before a serious act comparable to marriage. Nothing like that benefit exists here. Minimization of the distance-burden issue is dramatized by the Court's holding that forcing El Paso residents to travel to New Mexico was invalid when the surgical center requirement was deemed of slight if any value. Id. at 2304. Although the Court was not explicit, I doubt that the state line crossing was the most critical aspect of the ruling.

    4 Members of the Court would have been aware that Las Cruces, New Mexico, is quite near El Paso (less than 50 miles), and if abortion facilities were not presently available there the provision of such facilities in Las Cruces, as in other sites in New Mexico, presu Case 2:16-C-0-4313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 7 of 17 practical significance.

This case is not a close one in any event, as the absence of a clinic in Central Missouri requires hundreds of miles of travel, round-trip, with two trips needed unless a woman has the means and time available for a long stay in St. Louis or other rather distant clinics. Compare the excessive travel burden for women in Tuscaloosa, discussed in West Alabama, supra, * 9. The lesson of Hellerstedt thus requires an undue burden conclusion when, as here, major travel is needed, because the hospital affiliation requirement has made it practically impossible to continuously staff an abortion clinic in Columbia.
   Coinic in Columbia.

Defendants make an argument, based on some statistical curiosities, that the reduced number of clinics may have minimal effect on the number of recorded abortions.

Counsel concedes, candidly and commendably, that his contention is "counter-intuitive."

Plaintiffs have offered the contrary declaration of Dr. Sheila Katz, convincingly stating sociological realties consistent with what can be judicially noticed. (Doc. 15-5). Not claiming expertise in statistics, I can suppose the major fallacy of the statistics relied on (which are inconsistent with other statistics) 5 is that they are generally State-wide in nature, not focused on a major area of concern, such as central Missouri. A fall-off in professionally-handled abortions in a locale seems almost certain when there is no period cases I would suppose implicit in the Hellerstedt ruling would be a supposition that a 50 mile trip is an excessive burden for restrictions which confer little or no benefit. published in January in the Journal of the American Medical Association and a Research Brief at the University of Texas, deposited in February, which tend to show a si Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 8 of 17 convenient place to go. In that sense the hospital affiliation requirement probably creates health hazards for women. No one has rebutted Dr. Katz regarding human

In oral argument, the State defendants' counsel argued against a state-wide injunction if the travel burden was imposed mostly harmfully on women living in central Missouri (Doc. 78, pp. 52). Apparently he was asking that the court limit relief to a circle of counties with boundaries established somewhat arbitrarily by the court. No authority is cited for such a limitation of relief. It would compromise the difference between a facial challenge like this one and an "as applied" challenge. Hellerstedt imposed statewide relief and I am bound to do so here. If anything, the area of impact here covers more of the State of Missouri than occurred in Texas. The dissent by Justice Alito refers to the point advocated for defendants here and failed to persuade a majority of the Court. 136 S.Ct. at 2349-2350.
    3. Arkansas Case
The second authority that has a bearing on the result here is the pending decision by a panel of the Eighth Circuit in the argued and submitted case, Planned Parenthood of Arkansas v. Jegley, No. 16-2234. On appeal is Judge Baker's ruling in Planned Parenthood of Arkansas & Eastern Oklahoma v. Jegley, 2016 WL 6211310 (E.D. Ark.).
The trial and opinion below preceded Hellerstedt, and reached the same result on preliminary injunction, invalidating a requirement slightly less onerous than the hospital affiliation requirement here and in Hellerstedt. Arkansas had a "contracted physician requirement" rather than a direct hospital affiliation requirement. As very plausibly found by Judge Baker, the Arkansas statute was both unnecessary and close to prohibitory in its result, essentially for reasons later stated in Hellerstedt. While that may be a slightly more difficult case than this one (and of course required a great deal more work), I agree with the opinion and result. If affirmed by the circuit, that would seem to require invalidation of Missouri's hospital affiliation requirement.

A Ambulatory Surgical Center Requirement Products and Substantial Regularity Statute to comply with requirements imposed for Ambulatory Surgical Centers (ASCs), that is, they must have facilities suitable for significant surgery. Wide hallways are notably required, to facilitate moving of still unconscious patients lying on gunneys. Requirements are imposed because of special sterilization needs of patients undergoing incisions. Normal medical and dental office facilities, with strict cleanliness requirements, cubicles for medical procedures, limited staffing requirements, etc. are not considered adequate for ASCs. Abortion clinic objections to ASC status are founded on the very considerable cost of compliance — perhaps $3 million for either remodeling or building new clinics — and the lack of need because of the absence of incisions, the use of limited anesthetics rather than general anesthesis or deep sedation, and the modesty of the procedures used. It has been repeatedly asserted by plaintiffs' counsel, without contradiction, that first

6 A procedural quirk in Jegley is that plaintiffs sued two prosecutors to prevent enforcement of the Arkansas law, and the district judge also enjoined them "from failing to notify immediately all state officials responsible for enforcing the requirements." trimester abortions, the bulk of abortion clinic activity, generally take four to five minutes trimester abortions, the bulk of abortion clinic activity, generally take four to five minut oc complete. 7

The statute, enforced according to its terms, would require the Kansas City clinic to gird itself with the full panoply of ASC features even though medicinal abortions are exclusively used in Kansas City. This is one area of abortion regulation when exemptions have been granted in the past, but the future is unpredictable, with a new Director subject to political pressure from abortion opponents in the General Assembly and elsewhere, and the unqualified mandatory statute remaining on the books. Hellerstedt invalidated the entire ASC package of restrictions for abortion clinics in Texas, without evaluating specific requirements. 136 s.Ct. at 2314-2318. Al undue burden of costliness, when balanced against benefits, is clearly imposed in Springfield and Joplin according to the lesson of Hellerstedt. 8
The lack of necessity and "nearly arbitrary" imposition of ASC requirements, as found in Hellerstedt (136 s.Ct. at 2316), adequately establishes that these plaintiffs are very likely to receive relief. There has also been some debating and inquiry about 7 It will perhaps have been noted that the background facts in this case are essentially uncontroverted at this time. The disputed issues regarding safety and the alleged benefits of ASC and hospital affiliation requirements have been presented by expert declaravailable under the auspices of the St. Louis organization. The St. Louis clinic itself satisfies ASC requirements and was described by defendants' counsel as "the safest the state of Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 11 of 17 whether abortion clinics in Missouri are the victims of discriminatory treatment, by being required to provide accommodations and facilities not required for medical procedures of a comparable nature. The record is not clear enough on some points to make findings. I note, however, that I still have questions about whether miscarriage treatment and intrusive gynecological examinations, which both seem similar to abortions, particularly early term abortions, are subject to ASC requirements. Colonoscopies have ASC requirements where they constitute more than 50% of a medical practice. But if four and five minute first trimester abortions could not be fairly characterized as significant surgery (what used to be called "operations"), that would require all abortions to be exempted, since those early term abortions constitute the bulk of abortion practice in the St. Louis clinic, and presumably elsewhere under the same auspices. If would surely be an invidious discrimination against abortion clinics if the 50% rule used for other procedures were not used in that context. Yet the statute is operable when there are only five first term abortions. On this issue see footnote 9, infra.

5. Miscellaneous Issues

A. Preliminary Injunction requirements
The familiar requirements for a preliminary injunction, as set forth in Dataphase Systems Inc. v. CL Systems Inc., 640 F.2d 109 (8 th Cir. 1981) are easily met in this case. The issues include a plaintiff's probability of success and irreparable injury absent the injunction. The court must also consider harm to other interested parties if the relief is granted, and factor in the effect on the public interest. In this case, because of Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 12 of 17

Hellerstedt and plaintiffs shaping their claim on that controlling case, their likelihood of success is very high. The ability to function as abortion clinics and to perform abortions is crippled in Columbia, Springfield and Joplin, and to some extent in Kansas City, by reason of the statutory and regulatory hospital affiliation requirement for doctors. Especially in Springfield and Joplin, but to a lesser extent in Columbia and Kansas City, the ASC (surgery center) requirement imposes burdens that have closed or prevented development of clinics. Prompt relief from the requirements that Hellerstedt ruled invalid would not harm defendants. While the State Defendants assert harmful deregulation going beyond what is required, I am seeking the assistance of counsel in shaping an order which minimizes collateral damage. The Supreme Court's directive that the ASC requirement be invalidated as a package, rather than engaging in severance, may necessarily result in some temporary elimination of useful requirements, harmless to plaintiffs. Without considering the judgment proposal, it would seem that the pre-2007 requiation of offices of doctors and dentists, not included as surgery centers, should suffice.

The failure to act promptly in this case would seriously frustrate the opportunity to open clinics in Springfield and Joplin and the restoration of clinical service in Columbia and Kansas City. The abortion rights of Missouri women, quaranteed by constitutional rulings, are being denied on a daily basis, in irreparable fashion. The public interest clearly favors prompt relief.

I am aware that caution is to be exercised in altering the status quo during litigation and that mandatory preliminary injunctions are not favored. A mandatory injunction is not needed. I would suppose the status quo in this case was changed by the Supreme Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 13 of 17

Court in Hellerstedt, and the danger to the status quo is being posed by defendants, insofar as they would try to enforce statutory and regulatory provisions that inconsistent with the Texas ruling. Preliminary injunctions against the operation invalid State laws are often appropriate. Fish v. Kobach, 840 F.3d 710 (10 th Cir. 2016) Jane Doe v. Mundy, 514 F.2d 1179 (7th Cir. 1975) (an early abortion case). A recent local case denying relief notes that a preliminary injunction that is both mandatory and disruptive of the status quo can properly be granted when the factors considered weigh heavily and compellingly in favor of the movant. Real Time Pharmacy Services, Inc. v. Express Scripts, Inc., 2017 WM 1196485 (E.D. Mo.) (citing Kikumura v. Hurley, 242 F.3d 950, 955 (10 th Cir. 2001)). If that heavy burden were applicable, plaintiffs have met it. Further delay would be unacceptable.

B. Collateral Harm At oral argument the State Solicitor gave first priority to the possible collateral damage of a ruling against the State Defendants. I have invited counsel to suggest a proposed order minimizing that problem. By reason of Hellerstedt, however, which warns against district judges getting unnecessarily involved in regulatory detail, there are limits to how narrowly I can confine my order, but I await a proposal or proposals within ten days.

C. One plaintiff's Settlement Agreement
The Kansas city organization, but not the St. Louis organization or the plaintiff physician, sought to litigate various aspects of the 2007 statute which imposed surgical center standards on abortion clinics having material activity. Nithout benefit of Bellerstedt or more recent experience with targeted regulation of abortion clinics, Judge Smith filed a mixed ruling on application for a preliminary injunction and urged the plaintiffs and Department of Health and Senior Services to work together to develop feasible plans for the physical requirements and operation of clinics in Kansas City and Columbia. Planned Parenthood of Kansas and Mid-Missouri, Inc. v. Drummond, 2007 WL 2811407 (W.D. Mo). 9 Negotiations finally produced a Settlement Agreement in 2010. [Doc. 27-1]. The State Defendants contend that this agreement is a bar to relief, at least in favor of the Kansas City plaintiff. Briefing on this issue has been fitful, given the limited effect of a ruling on this point in favor of the State Defendants. It is obviously not a bar to relief that would advance the prospect of abortion clinics in Springfield and/or Jophin, sponsored by the St. Louis plaintiff. Those prospective clinics have the greatest needs for eliminating the surgery center requirement. The Columbia and Kansas City clinics seem in most need of physicians who are not crippled by the hospital affiliation requirement, and thus the 9 The Drummond ruling expresses some skepticism concerning plaintiffs' then-novel reference to an equal protection issue. After anti-abortion regulation became more ubiquitous, however, Judge Posner observed that an "issue of equal protection of the laws is lurkin th cir. 2013). The Hellerstedt majority opinion emphasizes disparate treatment, a subject dealt with in many of the filings here. The Court majority is now scrutinizing closely how protected but often unpopular abortion activity is being Case 2:16-Cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 15 of 17 plaintiff physician has the primary need for injunctive relief from that requirement. I am thus not compelled to make a definitive evaluation of the Settlement Agreement in advance of granting a preliminary injunction. 10

D. Prosecuting Attorneys
The defendant prosecuting attorneys appearing at argument declined an opportunity to participate. Enjoining the prosecutors, as was done in Jegley, is unusual when the likelihood of prosecution is remote. Judicial notice, however, is taken that abortion clinic activity is controversial and that opponents of abortion may well urge prosecutors to enforce the law, as it appears in the statute books. A precautionary injunction is therefore useful here. The preliminary injunction, when issued, will be applicable to all defendants except the Attorney General, who should not be enjoined, according to Reproductive Health Services of Planned Parenthood of the St. Louis Region Inc. v.
Nixon, 428 F.3d 139 (8 th Cir. 2005).

As is customary in cases of this nature, where plaintiffs are serving a public interest, the Planned Parenthood entities are not-for-profit organizations, and the governmental

10 It may be worth noting that the 2010 agreement on its face was primarily intended to resolve physical requirements for existing clinics and questions about the amount of attorney's fees of plaintiffs for which the defendants became responsible. There was an incidenta Case 2:16-cv-04313-HFS Document 93 Filed 04/19/17 Page 16 of 17 entities will not be harmed by the order entered, security for costs and damages in the event the defendants are wrongfully enjoined will not be required.

In accordance with previous notice to counsel, it is therefore ORDERED that the motion for preliminary injunction (Doc. 14) is hereby GRANTED, and that counsel supply to the court, within ten days of this date, a proposed preliminary injunction order (or orders) effectuating the foregoing ruling, without prejudice to appellate rights the parties may wish to pursue. As previously noted, the principal objective of requesting drafts is to avoid unintended collateral harm from enjoining the surgery center requirement.

Very important! Missouri Attorney General Josh Hawley will appeal this terrible court decision. From the story:

But Missouri Attorney General Josh Hawley, a Republican, vowed to appeal.

"Today a federal court struck down large portions of Missouri law that protect the health and safety of women who seek to obtain an abortion," Hawley said. "Missouri has an obligation to do everything possible to ensure the health and safety of women undergoing medical procedures in state licensed medical

Federal judge blocks Missouri abortion restrictions

April 19, 2017

JEFFERSON CITY • A federal judge on Wednesday kept his promise to block two state laws in Missouri that have kept clinics outside of the Planned Parenthood in St Louis from performing abortions

US District Judge Howard Sachs said earlier this month that he planned to grant a preliminary injunction invalidating requirements for the state's abortion clinics to meet standards for surgical centers and for their doctors to have hospital privileges

Citing a landmark U S Supreme Court ruling in Whole Woman's Health'v Hellerstedt, which struck down similar restrictions in Texas, Sachs said abortion rights of Missouri women were guaranteed by the decision

"Relief should be prompt, given the needs of women seeking abortions and the need for available clinics to serve their needs," wrote Sachs, of the Western District of Missouri in Kansas City

The state laws are at the center of an ongoing legal challenge brought by Planned Parenthood affiliates in Missouri, who feel the Hellerstedt ruling could open the door for abortions to be performed statewide

Missouri's GOP-led Legislature has long pushed initiatives to limit access to abortion in the Show-Me state. On Wednesday, House lawmakers advanced legislation that would mandate state inspections of abortion clinics, lay out rules for fetal tissue disposal and require two parents be notified when a minor seeks an abortion Supporters argue the restrictions challenged in this lawsuit protect the health of women by ensuring the procedure is performed in safe, clean facilities Abortion advocates contend that the restrictions in Missouri have become so stringent that few providers can meet them Planned Parenthood plaintiffs Laura A McQuade and Mary M Kogut called the ruling "a resounding affirmation we've long awaited "

"Together, we are excited to end Missouri's shameful one-provider status, and soon be offering four more locations where women can access safe, legal abortion without facing geographical obstacles," they said in a joint statement

"Today a federal court struck down large portions of Missouri law that protect the health and safety of women who seek to obtain an abortion," Hawley said "Missouri has an obligation to do everything possible to ensure the health and safety of women undergoing medical procedures in state licensed medical facilities" Planned Parenthood said the organization will begin the process of restoring abortion services at health centers in Columbia and Kansas City and to begin performing them in Joplin and Springfield, Mo
